

I think this law should be kept in place. It can becomes very personal when those calls come in constantly. They distract you and interupt Family time together. They also become very annoying.